WALL STREET RENTS.—It is now a question whether a rent can be demanded for certain Metropolitan localities so extravagant as to shut off tenants. The high rents of ten years ago appear trifling when compared with the present rates; and hence one may wonder when the demand will abate. The marble building which is bounded by Pine, Nassau and Cedar streets, rents in the aggregate for $250,000 per year; this sum being made up by the various banks, brokers, and lawyers, who play the agreeable part of tenants. The Board of Brokers pay annually $25,000 for a chamber about fifty by seventy feet, in which its daily sessions are held. Broker's offices range from $2,000 to $4,000, and hence many club together and a half dozen ... may be seen in a single basement. The most profitable rental, relative to its cost, in the world, is the Trinity Building. This is a plain structure of common brick, about forty feet front by one hundred and sixty feet deep. It stands next to Trinity Church on Broadway, near Wall street. It cost $200,000 in 1852, and then rented for $30,000, its use being coal offices and banking. The rate has gradually advanced until its aggregate rent-roll is about $175,000 or about 80 per cent. per annum. Trinity Building is now chiefly occupied by Pennsylvania mine; and $1,000 is paid for second class offices. The increase of rents, of which the above is an illustration, prevails throughout a certain range of business localities. This includes Wall street and Broadway for one mile along the latter thoroughfare, also the streets adjucent to it.

LONG SKIRTS.—The Alta California, on this subject, says:

We admire a long skirt in a drawing-room; it is graceful and elegant, and we have a weakness for the short ones, in the street, that display the feet, nicely dressed in neat fitting boots; but to see the former on a promenade, during such weather as we have had in the last few days, dragged along the slippery, sloppery sidewalks, and through three or four inches of mud on the crossings, is a disgusting sight. And yet there are women who will persist in wiping up filth to take home, because they do not admire the style of keeping themselves clean. It may be none of our business, because we do not have to pay the bills for the dresses destroyed, but as careful watchmen of everything appertaining to the public good, we cannot but exclaim against the positive iniquity of using fine garments for street sweeping machines in muddy times of the year. Again, a woman who will persist in wearing trails, now that the fashion is to trice up, always suggests the idea that her underclothes are unsightly, her stockings dirty, her boots old and ill fitting, that her feet are large, and that she desires to hide all this from the world by covering them up with a sweeping skirt.

The remarks are applicable to some ladies in this city. Won't they take the hint, and reap the benefit of these well-timed suggestions.

THE "DUEL" AT LOS ANGELES.—A correspondent to the Alta, writing from Los Angeles on the 20th ult., gives the following account of the recent affair at that place:

Some days since Mr. Charles Howard, son of General Volney E. Howard, met Colonel Kewen at Buffum's saloon, and, apparently without provocation, called the Colonel a liar. Stepping back, he put his hand on his pistol. Colonel K. told him he was not armed, and, besides, he was no bar-room assassin, but would see him in the morning and would then settle with him. The result of this was a challenge, which was so well noised about that everybody in town knew of it. In fact it appeared to almost everyone that a call was made to the peace officers to interfere, which they did not do. The challenge being accepted, the seconds and physicians chosen, with considerable parade, then started in four carriages for "Chino" Ranch on Wednesday morning—said ranch being a few miles over the line in San Bernardino county. Nine o'clock Thursday morning was the hour for the great event. As report says, "Nine came, but no fight. Soon some one moved a suspension of hostilities, which being granted, the friends of the belligerent gentlemen worked away for seven hours to effect a treaty of peace, which they finally accomplished, as their stomachs could stand it no longer. Empty stomachs are a great institution.)

THAT CESSION.—At the last session of Congress portions of Utah and Colorado Territories were ceded to Nevada. The cession was made for four good and sufficient reasons: 1. To give to Nevada, which has but comparatively few fertile acres, a quantity of agricultural land, which can well be spared by Utah. We are not apprised of the exact agricultural value of the acquisition, but believe it embraces several thousand sections of arable land. 2. To bring within the limits and jurisdiction of the State a newly discovered and promising mining region in Utah. That Territory is under the control of the Mormons, and the discovery and development of mines of gold and silver is discouraged by the Church leaders. 3. To give to the State, which is producing treasure at the rate of about $25,000,000 annually, a port on the Colorado. 4. To reduce the territorial sway of Brigham Young, in accordance with the plan of Ashley of Ohio, which looks to the destruction of polygamy by the parcelling out to the neighboring States and Territories the whole of Utah, should no better means of curing the Mormon evil be presented. For these reasons the cession was made, and the measure was passed in both Houses by large majorities.—Virginia Enterprise.

A WRETCHED miser named Bernard Holligan, died in Cambria county, Pennsylvania, recently. He was a laborer by occupation, and lived in the meanest possible manner. When the neighbors came to prepare his body for the grave, not a shred of clean linen could be found in the house in which to dress it. He had a trunk, however, that on being opened was found to contain $6,760 in gold and silver coin, together with a considerable sum in greenbacks.

R. C. GRIDLEY.—An appeal is made through the San Francisco Alta for R. C. Gridley, the famous "sanitary sack of flour" proprietor, who now lies utterly helpless from disease, at Stockton, with a large family unprovided for, having lost every dollar through the failure of his mining enterprises at Reese River.

LIBEL.—Hon. John Hogan, Representative in Congress, has sued the Chicago Tribune for libel, laying his damages at $50,000.

Salt Lake City, November 5, 1866.

Military Commissions.

The dispatches received the other day, in reference to the late decision of the United States Supreme Court, which has excited so much comment in Congress, were, as intimated by us at the time, very unsatisfactory. Our recent files of New York papers, however, throw some light on the subject. As this decision has already given rise to threats of impeaching some of the Judges and reconstructing the Court, it is deemed worthy of more than a passing notice.

Although it is only since the re-assembling of Congress, after the holidays, that this decision seems to have attracted special attention and adverse comment, it was rendered as long ago as December 17th, in the case of L. P. Milligan, one of the Indiana conspirators. Some two years ago, Milligan, with others in a time of great excitement, was arrested in Indiana as participants in a conspiracy against the Government, involving an attempt, also, to release Rebel prisoners from confinement. He was tried before a Military Commission, although he was not in the military service of the United States, convicted and condemned to death. The case came up on application for a writ of habeas corpus in the Circuit Court of the United States in Indiana, and thence went to the Supreme Court, the two Judges of the Circuit Court being divided in opinion. The case in the Supreme Court was argued by Judge McDonald, General Garfield, Dudley D. Field, for the prisoner, and Attorney General Speed, Mr. Stanbury and General Butler for the Government. The opinion, which was an elaborate one, of which, however, only an abstract is given in our exchanges, was rendered by Associate Justice Davis December 17th, last. It discusses at length the importance of observing the constitutional guarantees for the protection of the citizen in his person and property, and the majority of the Court held:

"Although the privilege of the of habeas corpus had been suspended, the right of the prisoner, under the Constitution and law, still remained. He was a citizen of Indiana, and had never been in the land or naval service, or in the active militia. It is true, a conspiracy existed, in which the defendant was accused of participating; but according to the Act of March, 1863, provision was clearly made for the trial of such classes of offenders before a civil court. The Circuit Court of Indiana was open and unobstructed. The Court, under the law, could have punished such crimes, and there was no fear of an interruption of process. There were troops in Indiana, but the State was not the scene of war; the troops were to be employed in the event of invasion, or sent to operate where military necessity might require. No matter how guilty Milligan was, there existed no authority to try him before a Military Commission, he not being in the military or naval service; nor did Congress attempt by its legislation, to confer such power. Therefore, the Court should order his release from military custody, and remand him to the civil tribunals."

To this all the members of the Court give an affirmative answer, and, also, to the second question: "Ought the Court to issue a writ of habeas corpus, and order his release?" To the third question. "Had the Military Commission the legal right to try him?" the Court responded in the negative.

Chief Justice Chase, for himself and Associates Wayne, Swayne and Miller, read a dissenting opinion relative to the third point, viz.: The validity of Military Commissions, in case the civil Courts are obstructed and where military movements are in operation, or the Judges are disloyal; affirming that Congress has the right to afford protection in such cases by means of the military power, though agreeing in this case that the Act of 1863 did not authorize the trial of Milligan in Indiana by a Military Commission.

The trial of the assassins of President Lincoln, it will be remembered, was before just such a Military Commission in the District of Columbia, where the civil Courts were neither obstructed, nor the Judges disloyal. Hence the probability of the early release of Dr. Mudd, Spangler and Arnold, now confined at the Dry Tortugas by sentence of the Military Commission before which they were tried and convicted. They are still, however, liable to indictment and trial before a jury in the civil courts.

Notwithstanding this decision, and the statements of Congressmen on the floor of the House, it would seem to be still an open question whether the Military Commissions provided for in the Freedmen's Bureau and Civil Rights bill, are valid or not. The opinion of Associate Justice Davis appears adverse to their validity, as a state of war does not exist in the Southern States. Chief Justice Chase's opinion sustains the legality of such tribunals.

Milligan was a civilian, residing in a State where the civil Courts were unobstructed, and in which a state of war, it was not pretended, existed. Until the status of the late Rebel States shall have been fixed, either by Congressional enactment or decision of the Supreme Court, the validity of Military Commissions "down South" may be regarded as an open question.

Chicago, January 11.

Washington specials say the House yesterday afternoon took up business on the Speaker's table for the purpose of reaching Senate bills for the admission of Nebraska and Colorado. Last session both of these passed the House by major ties enough to have secured their passage over any veto; now, however, a party has arisen up to keep out any States which have the word "white" in their Constitutions. The amendments inserted in the bills by Edmunds, and accepted by Sumner, does not suit many, as they doubt its practical and successful operation. When the bills were reached, considerable opposition was manifested, and every expedient was resorted to to prevent their passage. Efforts were made to send them to slumber in some committee room, where they would not again be reached, or postpone them behind such business as would effectually keep them. In all offensive movements the Democrats were a unit. None however succeeded, and it was thought at one time there was a majority of thirty in its favor, if it could have been pressed to a vote over the various fillibustering tactics. Ashley finally consented to an adjournment and have the bills come up again as unfinished business. Both will probably pass by a small majority, but when vetoed their fate is more problematical, the most trouble being anticipated in the House.

PRE-EMPTION TITLE.—As this has been a subject of comment from the pulpit, the forum and the press, and has also been a prolific topic of conversation, we think the publication of the following order may throw some light on the subject:

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF THE MISSOURI,
St. Louis, Mo., April 20, 1866.

General Orders, No. 52.

Commanding officers of military posts in this Department, when said posts are on the frontier, will lay off such reservations as are necessary for military posts, not to exceed four miles square, provided the actual possession of any citizen is not interfered with in executing this order. No citizen can hold over 160 acres under pre-emption title, and the military reservation may properly take in any part of a squatter's claim which exceeds that number of acres. On the completion of the provisions of this order, a report will be forwarded to Department Headquarters, showing the action in each case, for the orders of the Major General commanding the Department.

By command of Major General Pope:
JOHN P. SHERBURNE,
Assistant Adjutant General.

THE LATE GENERAL WILLIAMS.—From the Enterprise we glean the following account of the antecedents of this distinguished lawyer, lately deceased:

General Charles H. S. Williams was born in New Hampshire, and studied law with the late Hon. Fletcher M. Haight, in Rochester, New York. He was admitted to the bar by the Supreme Court of New York about 1832, and commenced practicing in Cazenovia, Madison county, New York. Afterwards he practiced in Fredonia and Buffalo, New York. He came to California in 1853, and remained in this city until 1861, when he went to Washoe, whence he returned during the past year. He was a member of the State Senate one year, and was one of the most successful practitioners at the California bar.

A new daily paper, with a capital of $200,000, is projected in Milwaukee. A number of prominent business men are taking the matter in hand.

Interview with Brigham.

The correspondence of the New York Evening Post, from Salt Lake City, gives the following account of an interview with Brigham Young:

Salt Lake, November 7th.—The [illegible] of Dr. Robinson are not yet known. The opinion expressed in my last letter, that the inquest would fail to discover any clue, has proved correct.

A TALK WITH POLYGAMIC WOMEN.

I have stated that the only explanation of guilty any of the Mormons of the murder is that it was committed by Gentiles with the object of criminating the Mormons. I called to-day again on "President" Young—urging him that my object was to obtain some facts for the public eye—and in my long conversation with him he repeated this explanation over and over. He said that most of the Gentiles living here were bad enough to do any act that would injure him and his people, and that he had no doubt some wretch had been hired for about ten dollars to murder Dr. Robinson. He said that Dr. Robinson was one of the worst men he ever knew. "He was sarsy," he said—for Brigham is not unduly cultivated, as you may gather from his favorite modes of expression, "he was sarsy and impudent, and pushed himself forward, right against us." This is truly the Mormon conception of a bad man. He was sorry the Doctor had been killed; for he wanted him to live and "die in the ditch, like a dog, as he'd ha'd done, if he'd gone on." Still he hoped the murderers would be discovered, though he had no idea that the one-sided and prejudiced lawyers conducting the case meant to discover these; for it would show the wickedness of their own clique who had planned the deed, he thought. They selected Dr. Robinson, he said, on account of his having the difficulty with the Mormon authorities; thereby inteading that the blame should be thrown on them. He lavished vigorous epithets on Governor Weller, the Gentile lawyers, and, above all, on Justice Titus. And, referring to the latter gentleman, and some of his late decisions, he said they were dictated occasionally by law, but generally by his personal feelings; that all these United States Judges were a set of prejudiced scoundrels, and he didn't want any more of their decisions; that "they'd better be careful, or they'd have to get out of this place. Yes, I'll put 'em out myself, pretty soon; send 'em home by a short cut."

Which goes to prove that he is eminently the law-loving and law-abiding citizen he is claimed to be by his supporters.

He asserted that seventeen years ago he took possession of the warm springs in dispute with Dr. Robinson, and the land about them; that he had himself expended over $7,000 in improving it before making it over to the city; and that they had continued to improve and expend money on it up to the day of Dr. Robinson's occupation. He spoke in strong terms of him, and like "claim-jumpers," avowing that all land held by the church was held lawfully, in accordance with all pre-emption laws; and that no man, Mormon or Gentile, was ever molested in his location on land unowned by others.

I referred to the destruction of Dr. Robinson's bowling-alley and other deeds of mob violence to which Young said that, in his deliberate opinion, that band of men had done wrong; instead of going by night to destroy the building, they should have "gone through" it in broad day. "I'd have gutted it at noon; torn it down and destroyed it in the light of day, so that every man might see me."

BRIGHAM PASSIONATE.

He spoke in passionate terms of the attempts constantly being made by Gentiles—"lazy, good-for-nothing fortune hunters; lazy and lousy; yes, sir, lousy, lousy, I tell you" (the word seeming to please him)—of the efforts of these men to corrupt the city, fill it with bar-rooms and other dens of vice; and, in short, to drag it down to the level of their "so-called civilized cities, like Denver, San Francisco or New York." He referred to the former peace and order dwelling here, when no drinking shops were needed; when each man's life and property were safer than in any American city, and, above all, than any Western town. And he meant to have it so continue, he said. They were determined to have their own way, and keep this city a decent and orderly one; "and these bad men haven't seen anything like the worst yet, if they persist in their course." A noticeable promise.

That Brigham Young and his colleagues, either directly in secret orders, or indirectly by their whole course of teaching and previous action, are the responsible criminals is this day the heartfelt belief of every man, woman and child in both classes of the Gentile community.

The annual muster and review of the Mormon militia has just taken place. Camp was pitched on the banks of the Jordan, a few miles from the city, and the occasion was made a grand holiday for every one. The display was not peculiarly brilliant, either in the discipline, the evolutions, or the soldierly characteristics of the men. But it was interesting as an exhibition of the Mormon soldiery; and was in no wise discreditable to so purely agricultural a community. I was unpleasantly impressed with the number of very young men—mere boys—in the ranks.

THE LATE INDIAN MASSACRE.—From a special dispatch to the Chicago Tribune, we learn the following particulars of the recent affair near Fort Phil. Kearny:

Omaha, December 26.

Information has been received at General Cooke's headquarters, that a desperate fight occurred on the 21st, near Fort Phil. Kearney, on the route to Montana, between a detachment of troops from the post, consisting of eighty-four men and three officers, and a large number of hostile Indians. The detachment was attacked about five miles from the fort by about 3,000 Indians, and after a contest of unprecedented ferocity and desperation, were killed to a man. The loss of the Indians is reported to have greatly exceeded the number of whites engaged, as it must have been from the desperate character of the fight. Brevet Lieutenant Colonel W. J. Fetterman, who commanded the detachment, and Captain F. H. Brown, and Lieutenant G. W. Grammond, all of the 18th United States Infantry, were the officers killed. Sufficient reinforcements have gone forward from Fort Laramie to assure the safety of the military posts along that line.

WOOD AND MORRISSEY.—The New York Citizen is a little more explicit about that great game of faro in New York a short time since. It says:

The most vigorous and pertinacious fight against the "tiger" ever made in this country came off on Wednesday last. The assaulting party was an ex-member of Congress of this city, while the bank was backed by a member elect. The attacking party left the scene of conflict at 9 A. M. on Thursday, the winner of $124,000. We think this affair has no parallel in sporting annals. We are glad of it, Ben, it will help set you on your feet again, and John can afford to lose it. At one time in the evening Mr. Wood was the loser to the extent of $80,000; but cool persistence induced the change of fortune recorded above.

SIDNEY TOMKINS, of Stillwater, Saratoga county, New York, was killed on Dec. 2d by a singular accident. While attempting to relieve a cow that was choking, the animal tossed him into the air with her horns, and in falling he struck upon a picket fence, one of the sharp points of which severed an artery in his neck and impaled him on the fence.

SCHOFIELD, of Pennsylvania, says President Johnson's message has but three heads—Copperhead, sorehead and blockhead.

General News.

The Chicago Tribune of the 27th ult., contains the following dispatches:

Louisville, December 26.

At Jeffersonville, on Christmas morning, a [illegible] shot and killed Dr. Spaulding. She was lying in bed and he was [illegible]. She petulantly ordered him to [illegible]. Not doing so, she shot him with a pistol in the head.

Conrad Smith was run over by a street car on Christmas eve.

Judge Lynch's posse took from the Lebanon jail, Robens, a negro desperado, who shot an officer in making his arrest for the murder of another negro, and hung him to a tree in the church yard.

On Monday, one Perkins killed a Mr. Roberts in Bagdad, Shelby county, the result of an old feud.

New York, December 26.

Two men have been jailed for stealing a $25,000 deed. One of them, Captain Clark, was formerly on General Butler's staff.

The Post-office at Elizabethtown, N. J., was yesterday burglarized, and all the letters stolen.

The raid on the distilleries has advanced whisky twenty cents per gallon. Several extensive seizures were made to-day.

One hundred and thirty anti-Johnson men have been removed from the United States bonded warehouse during the past fortnight.

The Arlington-Bennett will case, involving a great amount, has been settled, the relatives agreeing that Mrs. Bennett, whose marriage to deceased was denied, shall have a life interest in the estate.

John Adolph Sanger appeared to-day before Justice Dowling and made oath to certain papers, wherein he claims part of the $20,000 offered by citizens of Washington for the capture of John Wilkes Booth. He was one of the detachment which captured him, and received $1,700 therefor from Government.

Philadelphia, December 25.

Charles Serad was shot and almost instantly killed on Second street by one Ellinger. Serad blew a tin horn in his face, when the latter fired two shots from a revolver, one taking effect in the body near the heart, causing his death in a few minutes. The murderer then escaped, but delivered himself up to the authorities this morning.

Richmond, Va., December 26.

Jesse Murphy, proprietor of Jackson Park, was killed at the Chesterfield races, yesterday, by Joseph Kelley. The parties were well known in sporting circles.

New Orleans, December 25.

A lease of the New Orleans and Balize telegraph line, for a term of years, has been executed to the United States and European News Association, and the line will pass into the hands of the lessees on the 1st of January. This line is of great importance to the press and shipping interests, and telegraphs from five to ten hours ahead of the New Orleans arrivals. Its managers will be in possession of the earliest news from Texas, Havana, Mexico, etc.

THE DENVER News, of the 4th instant, says that Mr. A. W. Barnard, printer, and foreman of the Denver Daily, arrived from Chicago this morning. He reports that the buffalo in large numbers are coming into the valley of the Platte between Junction and Riverside stations. Ranchmen are shooting them from the doors of their houses and in their cattle corrals. This advent of buffalo at such a season of the year bodes no good to the settlements along the Platte. Indians in large parties are undoubtedly behind them, and it cannot be with peaceable intentions that they are, at this time of the year, approaching the Platte route. On all other Indian raids in the Platte Valley the buffalo have preceded the outbreak in this same way, and it is well known that those animals, of their own accord, will not emigrate northward in the dead of winter. Let travelers across the Plains be warned in time and go in strong parties, well armed, or we will have a repetition of the horrors of Indian warfare, as given us about this time in the winter of 1864-5.

CHINA STEAMSHIPS.—The names of the steamships employed in the China mail service are as follows: Colorado, Great Republic, Celestial Empire, America, and Niphon. These vessels are about 376 feet long and of a burthen of 4,000 tons.

FALSE REPORT.—The report of the stabbing (or shooting) of Charles Slicer, on board the steamer Oriflamme, is untrue. The Virginia Enterprise says it was a stupid joke, got up by some parties who had indulged too freely.

GOLD.—Great excitement exists in Buchanan county, Missouri, on account of the discovery of gold by a farmer residing on "One hundred two."

AN exchange says: Mr. Morrissey visited the Capitol lately, and on noticing the Speaker's desk, inquired if that was where the referee sat?

TO ADVERTISERS.—The VEDETTE is the pioneer daily newspaper of Utah. Its extensive circulation in every mining camp and city of Montana and Idaho, (to which it gives the telegraphic despatches a whole week ahead of the Pacific papers,) makes it the most advantageous medium for advertising in these four central Territories.

ODD FELLOWSHIP.—The following history of the origin, progress, and present condition of Odd Fellowship in Utah, will be interesting to many of our readers:

The members of the Order, who were composed of officers and soldiers stationed at Camp Douglas, attempted to start a Lodge, but in consequence of the uncertainty of a soldiers permanent residence, the effort was unsuccessful. On the 17th of January, 1865, the members of the Order residing in Salt Lake City and its vicinity, met at the Hall of the Young Men's Literary Association and there organized themselves into an Odd Fellows Association for the purpose of establishing a Lodge. Their application for a charter was granted by the Grand Lodge of the United States. The following are the names of the charter members: R. L. Westbrook, James M. Ellis, Fred. Auerbach, Willard Kittridge, L. J. Whitney, Charles Popper, J. C. Morrill, Max Wahlgemuth, M. Berger. The application was made to name the new Lodge the Westbrook Lodge, but by recommendation of the M. W. Grand Sire, it was called Utah Lodge, No. 1, who at the same time paid a high tribute to the exertions of Captain Westbrook for his exertions in the establishment of the Lodge and appointed him to institute the new Lodge and install its officers. Captain Westbrook being absent, the Hon. Schuyler Colfax, being in the city, telegraphed to the Grand Sire, when James M. Ellis was appointed, who being absent in California, was informed of it, and returned and instituted Utah Lodge, No. 1, on the 29th of July, 1865. Ever since the Lodge has been working under their charter from the Grand Lodge of the United States. The Lodge numbers at present forty-eight members in good standing. We hear that by a recent order Utah Lodge, No. 1, will in future be attached to the Grand Lodge of the State of Nevada. This change is very satisfactory to the members as it increases the facilities of business by not having to forward all matters for decision to the Grand Lodge of the United States. The Lodge is composed of many of the most prominent merchants and influential citizens, and is in a flourishing condition. Their attention to the wants of sick members, and also to the appropriate burial ceremonies of deceased brethren, is worthy of the Order and creditable to the members of Utah Lodge, No. 1.

APOLOGIZES.—Not "Local," but Adam our compositor, who set up Adam for Aaron in yesterday's issue. Adam says he was thinking of himself at the time, and not of the worthy Deputy Postmaster.

REMOVED.—Messrs. Baskin & DeWolfe have removed their law office, and now occupy an elegant suite of rooms over the Bank Exchange, where all clients will, in future, find them ready to attend to their wants.

SLEIGHING.—The pleasure of sleigh riding is at present suspended, and those who failed to embrace the recent opportunity afforded them, must wait patiently until the clerk of the weather is in the humor again.

WOUNDED.—Mr. Bryfogle, one of the party of Pahranagat miners recently attacked near the Colorado river by Indians, was wounded slightly in the leg.

HOMICIDE.—L. Overshiner, a colored man who keeps a restaurant in Denver, was shot and killed in that city on the 4th inst., by another negro named Allen Smith.

A THAW.—The weather was quite mild yesterday, and by nightfall a rain set in, which promises to dissolve the snow, leaving mud in its place.

WANTED.—Cash paid for old door and padlock keys, etc., at J. R. Sumner's second hand store. 4t

FOUR MEN KILLED.—The Chattanooga Union, of December 11th, gives the following:

We learn that on Sunday evening, Sweetwater, Tennessee, was the scene of a terrible fray, resulting in the death of all the participants. It appears that Captain William Jenkins, formerly of Marietta, Ga., had been for several days in Sweetwater attending to some private business, when on Sunday evening, while passing the railroad depot, he was accosted by three men belonging to Athens, Tenn., two of whom were brothers, named McGaughey; the name of the third is unknown. An altercation ensued, when pistols were drawn by the party.

Captain Jenkins was mortally wounded, but before falling succeeded in firing at his assailants, killing one of the McGaugheys instantly and mortally wounded the other two men. We understand that all the parties have since died. The affair created considerable excitement in Sweetwater, where all the parties were well known.

The unfortunate affair originated during the war. It appears that in December, 1864, a raid was made into the town of Athens by a bushwhacking party, and during the time they occupied the town, Mr. McGaughey, the father of the young men concerned in the melee on Sunday, was killed.

The McGaugheys were Union men, and as we understand it, Capt. Jenkins was an officer in the raiding party, and believed to be concerned in the killing of McGaughey.

RIOT AND LOSS OF LIFE.—A riot occurred at a ball in the house of Wm. Champaigns, near Roseburg, Oregon, on Christmas night. It was commenced by five rowdies named John Fitzhugh, Robert Forbes, Sam. Culver, John Hannan and Abe Crow, who came to the house at about 2 o'clock in the morning. While the party were dancing the riot commenced, and in the melee, which lasted but a few minutes, D. F. Barringer was killed, and Ash Clayton severely wounded. Cy. Smith and several others in the house were slightly wounded. Forbes and Culver of the mob were badly if not mortally wounded, and Fitzhugh and Hannan slightly wounded. The other mobber, Crow, escaped unhurt. There were about ten couples on the floor dancing when the affair commenced.

THE painting, Yo-Semite Valley, lately sold in Boston for five thousand five hundred dollars, is one of several small views of the valley by Bierstadt. Its size is twenty-five inches by forty-five inches, and it is not his great painting of the Yo-Semite Valley which is owned by the Crosby Opera House Art Association.

CAPTAIN CHARLES A. BOUTELLE, of Augusta, Maine, recovered a watch recently which was stolen from him six years ago in Liverpool, England. He was in a concert room at the time it was stolen, and immediately made the loss known to the detectives there, who, after six years, succeeded in finding it.

PAT COFFEE was stabbed and mortally wounded at Sands' brewery, in Chicago, Ills., on the 11th of December, by a Pat Kearney.
